英国 ADAM 建筑师事务所发布学生国际游学奖学金

We have now launched ADAM Architecture's Student Travel Scholarship for this year.

The theme is 'The Interpretations of Classicism'.

It is open to undergraduate and graduate students enrolled at a UK or International RIBA-accredited School of Architecture, from Part I up to 3 years after Part II, or equivalent qualification.

We will award 1,500 to one student to support their research in architecture and urban design.

Now in its eighth year, our travel scholarship has a successful track record of supporting students to engage in international research.

Previous winners have travelled to China, France, Belgium, Moscow, Cuba, Japan and Malta.

Joining the ADAM Architecture directors on the judging panel are Matt Gaskin Head of the School of Architecture at Oxford Brookes University, Kathryn Findlay, Principle Director at Ushida Findlay Architects, and Michael Hammond, Editor in Chief at World Architecture News.com.

Attached is a poster to display on notice boards.

I hope that you will forward this email to your students and encourage them to apply.

Full details are available at www.adamarchitecture.com

The closing date for entries is Friday 24th May 2012
